

Information Security Awareness Training Digital Transformation & Operational Excellence

Make yourself unassailable! According to Emnid (an opinion-research institute), employees' carelessness and lack of understanding of existing risks lead to large security gaps in many companies. This practice-oriented training relates directly to your own daily business, helps to make your staff aware of the issue of information security, and reduces the risk of damage by external attacks. Knowledge of information security will be enhanced and a lingua franca will be created.

Content

- Introduction to the topic of information security (IT security vs. information security)
- Demonstration of typical attack strategies
- Illustration of a company's individual protection needs
- Generating risk awareness among the participants
- Contributing to information security through personal behavior
- Examples and practical exercises related to your own workplace (teamwork)
- Checklist for future behavior in daily business

Target group

- The training is aimed at all employees in companies: information security affects everyone!
- We offer an expert workshop for disseminators of the information-security topic to deepen their knowledge. The scope and content will be individually tailored to the company situation.
